Building A Foundation That's Family Strong

Mighty STOMP Leader Award
Renee Boatright

One of the most significant roles of a school administrator is building a solid relationship with students, teachers, support staff, parents, and the community. School leaders must establish relationships that bring everyone together as if they were a close knit family. Gainesville Exploration Academy prides itself on being a school that is "Family Strong" under the strong leadership of Ms. Renee Boatright. Ms. Boatright, the district's Mighty STOMP Leader Award winner for this quarter, aims to create a nurturing learning environment by listening to students and families and establishing lasting relationships with them.

"As an administrator, I want to build on the importance of collaboration and teamwork," says Ms. Boatright. "A positive attitude begins with you and spreads throughout the school."

As the principal of Gainesville Exploration Academy for the past five years, Ms. Boatright supports, coaches, and guides her staff so that they are equipped with the resources needed to help GEA students succeed. Motivated by professional growth in teachers and academic growth in students, Ms. Boatright says, "A strong school team with a shared vision can make a difference in student growth and achievement. Having served twelve years within the Gainesville City School System, her past positions as a second grade teacher, EIP teacher, and assistant principal have given her much insight on the key elements needed to run a great school. "We must trust, support and lift each other daily," says Ms. Boatright. In fact, her primary advice for school leaders is to "listen intently, set high expectations, and build lasting relationships with staff".

With a passion for serving her students and their families, Ms. Boatright was destined to be a leader who leads with a kind heart, always sharing words of encouragement and finding the positive side in any situation. "I believe that sometimes in life, we are led down different paths for a reason. My path lead me to GCSS," says Ms. Boatright. "I [am] impressed by the closeness of the GEA families and willingness of the staff to go beyond academics to build relationships with their students. What a powerful and humbling experience it is to be a part of Gainesville Exploration Academy." Ms. Boatright is notable for being the loving matriarch of the GEA family. Because of her warm personality and endearing leadership style, GEA is a school that is "#FamilyStrong", built with a strong foundation that will last a lifetime.
