BOE Meeting

On January 3rd, Fair Street International Academy welcomed students and parents back to school as they began the 2017 school year. The school decided to start the new year off with a big bang, and what better way to get the students excited about returning to school than by having their favorite book characters to greet them at the start of the school day. As students entered the doorways, they were welcomed by characters of all shapes and sizes. Principal Will Campbell shared, "I wanted to welcome back our children to school with an emphasis on reading so some of our staff members dressed up as one of their favorite book characters. I dressed up as Bud from the Newberry award-winning book Bud not Buddy." Some students were so intrigued by Mr. Campbell's character that they decided to check out the book at the library so they could begin reading it. To further expand the students' interest in reading, Mr. Campbell had lunch with the students this past Thursday to discuss various chapters of the book.

Fair Street students are ready to begin the year; but most importantly, they are eager to begin reading about the interesting characters that visited their school! What a great way to start the new year!

It's that time of the year when snow days and weather delays are likely to occur. The Gainesville City School System encourages parents and employees to be well prepared in the event inclement weather occurs.

School closings and delays are determined by the GCSS Emergency Weather Review Team after consulting with local public safety officials, the Georgia Emergency Management Agency, Hall County School System, and Gainesville City School System officials. Factors that may determine school closings or delays include hazardous road conditions, snow or ice accumulation, flooding, unfavorable weather conditions, unfavorable facility conditions (loss of power or heat), harsh temperature, and extreme wind chill factor.

In the event of inclement weather, the Emergency Weather Review Team will travel on designated routes and assess road conditions to determine if roads are conducive for safe bus travel. The team will then decide whether to proceed with school closing or delay with regard to the safety of students and employees.

Parents and employees will be notified of school closing or delay by 5:30 a.m. Notifications will be sent via the School Messenger messaging system, district webpage, GCSS Mobile App, district newsletter, social media, and the local media.

Parents and employees should continue to monitor updates regarding school closings and delays through the local media and the district website. Additional information regarding student make-up assignments and employee professional learning assignments can be found on the district website (www.gcssk12.net) under Inclement Weather Procedures in the Quick Links sidebar or by clicking here.
